Raj, this store is selling a few popular games at very good prices.

You're right, Adam!
I recognise the game in the middle. Jim has been talking about it since he played it with his cousins.
Shall we get it for him as a birthday gift?

I think that's a great idea, Raj!
Do you think Dan will be keen to join us in buying the gift?

I think he will! I'll email him now.

Your Task

Imagine you are Raj.

Write an email to Dan to ask if he would like to join you and Adam in buying a birthday gift.

You are to refer to the picture and information on page 2 for your email. The bullet point underlined below requires you to come up with your own information.

In your email, include the following key information:

- who the gift is for
- the gift you and Adam plan to buy and why both of you chose it
- how much the gift costs
- why you think Dan will be keen to join you and Adam in buying the gift
- why Dan needs to get back to you soon

You may reorder the points. Remember to write in complete sentences.

Part 2: Continuous Writing (36 marks)

Write a composition of at least 150 words about a responsibility.

The pictures are provided to help you think about this topic.

Your composition should be based on one or more of these pictures.

Consider the following points when you plan your composition:

- What was the responsibility?
- Was it carried out well?

You may use the points in any order and include other relevant points as well.

Text 2

The extract below is taken from an article about air conditioners.

These days, many people are buying eco-friendly air conditioners because they want to help the environment. However, these air conditioners may not be as good as they seem for our planet. Sales representatives from several companies often promote their eco-friendly air conditioners by saying they save energy over a long time. However, they do not explain how these air conditioners affect the environment when they release harmful gases that contribute to global warming.

To make the right choice, consumers should not only rely on the advertisements they see. It is better to check official energy ratings and customer reviews which are more reliable sources of information. These can tell consumers how much energy air conditioners really save and how easy it is to take care of them.

It is wiser to buy an air conditioner that is durable and easy to maintain. Repairing air conditioners when they break down instead of throwing them away helps protect the environment by reducing waste.

For each question from 21 to 25, shade your answer (1, 2, 3 or 4) on the Optical Answer Sheet.

21. According to the poster in Text 1, which of the following is true of Breez air conditioners?
- (1) They use too much electricity.
 - (2) They can be upgraded for free.
 - (3) They allow customers to save money.
 - (4) They have not served any customer well.
22. "Upgrade to a Breez Air Conditioner Today!" Why did the writer include this heading in Text 1?
- (1) to warn readers about the dangers of using other air conditioners
 - (2) to inform readers how easy it is to take care of Breez air conditioners
 - (3) to provide readers with details of the reviews from satisfied customers
 - (4) to persuade readers to choose Breez air conditioners over other air conditioners 4
23. Based on the poster in Text 1, which of the following would be the most likely reason customers would want to purchase a Breez air conditioner?
- (1) It is durable.
 - (2) It can be repaired.
 - (3) It is easy to install.
 - (4) It uses the latest technology.
24. "A greener future starts with you making smarter choices today!" The picture supports this by giving the impression that Breez air conditioners _____.
- (1) look stylish in any home
 - (2) are designed to protect the environment
 - (3) help consumers stay cool in their homes
 - (4) provide a favourable environment for indoor plants to grow
25. We cannot trust the way Text 1 promotes Breez air conditioners because Text 2 says _____.
- (1) eco-friendly air conditioners can harm the environment
 - (2) it is better to check customer reviews which are reliable
 - (3) it is wiser to buy air conditioners that are easy to maintain
 - (4) companies often show that eco-friendly air conditioners can save money

Please note that the passage for Comprehension questions 66 to 75 in Booklet B is on the next page. You may now go on to Booklet B.

Refer to the passage below when you answer questions 66 to 75 in Booklet B.

Aunty Nadfa owns a nasi lemak stall in the school canteen. Every day, the fragrance of coconut rice, crispy anchovies, and sweet sambal would fill the air. It was no wonder that during recess, her stall had the longest queue in the canteen. However, it had not always been this way. In the past, only a few students stopped by. Aunty Nadia decided to work long hours, wanting to perfect her recipe. Slowly, her hard work paid off.

5

Although operating a food stall was not easy, Aunty Nadia looked forward to serving her customers. On days when she was not too busy, she would chat with them. Their curious questions always made her laugh. Once, a student remarked, "Your nasi lemak is delicious! What's your secret recipe?" To that, Aunty Nadia replied, "Well, it is made with lots of love."

One busy morning, Zen and Devan, two of her familiar faces, joined the queue. "One plate of nasi lemak, please!" Devan called out. "One for me too!" Zen added. "That will be two dollars each!" Aunty Nadia replied. Zen was too busy searching his pockets for his wallet to hear her. When he realised that his pockets were empty, he let out a gasp. Zen had forgotten to bring his wallet to school. He watched Devan casually pull out his own wallet. Just then, a thought crossed his mind. "Maybe I should try my luck at getting a free plate of nasi lemak?" Zen convinced himself.

Moments later, Aunty Nadia returned with two plates of nasi lemak, expecting to see the payment from both boys. Instead, she only saw a two-dollar note on the counter. She asked, "Which one of you did not pay?" Shaking their heads, both Zen and Devan replied at the same time, "Not me!"

20

Scratching her chin, Aunty Nadia studied the two boys closely. Though both boys claimed that they had paid, only Devan had his wallet in his hand. Her eyes narrowed at the two boys but without any proof, she could not be sure. Aunty Nadia realised that she was caught in a tricky situation. Her mind raced to think of a plan.

After placing the note in the cash register, Aunty Nadia glanced at the clock. Realising there was not much time left, she casually said, "It's okay, you two go ahead and eat before the bell rings." Zen smiled triumphantly to himself, thinking he had outsmarted her.

25

Just then, Aunty Nadia called out, "Wait! Here's your change!" Zen immediately stretched out his hand for the change. Devan, however, frowned. "But... there shouldn't be any change," he said, "I paid the exact amount." With a knowing grin, Aunty Nadia pointed to Zen and exclaimed, "Aha! So it was you!"

30

Zen's face flushed red when he realised he had been caught. "I'm sorry, Aunty. I did not have my wallet with me and thought I could get away without paying for my food. I shouldn't have done that," he said regretfully. Aunty Nadia smiled kindly but her voice was firm as she told him, "The easy way out may not always be the right one. I'm giving you a second chance because everyone deserves the opportunity to make things right." Zen nodded and hurried off gratefully with his plate of nasi lemak. He promised to make things right the next day.
